Arc Pool Day

The Arc of the Emerald Coast provides services in Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, and Walton counties. They provide services that work to include all the children and adults with cognitive, intellectual, and developmental disabilities in every community.

Day Program News

Being a Self Advocate

This month in our day program we have been working on our self advocacy skills. Self-advocacy is crucial for individuals with developmental and intellectual disabilities as it empowers them to voice their needs, preferences, and rights. By advocating for themselves, these individuals can actively participate in decision-making processes that affect their lives, fostering a sense of agency and independence. Self-advocacy not only enhances personal growth and self-esteem but also promotes greater awareness and understanding within the community.

Spotlight

Baby Bea the Alpaca

Alpaca fun fact: Alpacas have been used for wool and transportation. Today they are bred exclusively for wool. Thick wool coats keep the Alpacas warm.

Habitat: marshy mountainous areas from southern Colombia and Ecuador to northern Chile and Argentina. They are slender-bodied animals with a long neck and long legs, a short tail, small head and large pointed ears.

Relatives: Camelids are members of the biological family Camelidae, the only currently living family in the suborder Tylopoda
